

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

AUTOMATIC CONFIGURATION OF REINSTALL INFORMATION

1 A computer system having a backup function keeps only one copy of
2 the operating system and application images on the server, and reconfigures
3 them automatically upon reinstallation. The installation of the system is 4 recorded, along with user settings, and a script file built that is used for 5 input to the recovery or new system creation process.